Storage
Experts

Producers should look to harvest time. If they are sure of enough, commercial space to meet their needs can take steps to their own storage on the farm.

A word of advice to those who are soundly advised by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In a special message to rural radio, Mr. Berger, Administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, notes that the grain supply this year is the biggest we have ever had.

Producers themselves, Mr. Berger says, "have the first and direct interest in the storage of grain. They need it in order to be in position to get their grain for orderly marketing, avoiding market glut and glut. They need it to take advantage of support and 'resale' programs. Commercial storage men have a very good job of expanding their facilities in recent years."

Seen & Heard Around Murray

Reports indicate the cut worms are very bad now and tobacco is suffering from them.

We come to the defense of Bethel Richardson and Grayson McClure when they say the frogs they got had legs as big as a frying size chicken.

You can believe them. Bethel presented us with a batch of frogs last night. The frogs were so big that he just skinned frogs and all. You're supposed to cook the whole thing.

The frogs are so big that they have meat all over them.

The Jack Belotes had a weird experience the other day.

Their oldest daughter came down stairs early one morning recently to practice on the piano, before the rest of the family got up and found to her surprise a man stretched out on the couch in the living room.

She told Jack about it and on investigation he found it to be true.

Seems that the fellow got mixed up, after a night out, and entered the wrong house. The police came and carted him off. The man lived near Paris.

Anyway Jack will be sure the door is locked from now on.

You can't tell what will happen in this day and time.

Death Toll Rises Over Holiday

By United Press International
The National Safety Council said today it feared the nation's highway death toll might hit an all-time high for a three-day Memorial Day week end.

The council said it was "alarmed" over the soaring rate of highway slaughter.

The toll has taken an alarming rise overnight, and, unless this is changed, we are headed for an all-time high for Memorial Day," a council spokesman said.

A United Press International report at 10:00 a.m. e.d.t. showed at least 121 persons had been killed on the highways since the holiday week end began at 6:00 p.m. local time Thursday.

The overall casualty toll was 165, of which 34 drowned, five were killed in plane crashes and 25 died in miscellaneous accidents.

Pennsylvania led the nation with at least 12 dead on the highways. New York followed with a toll of 10, and then came Illinois with 9, Ohio with 8 and California with 7.

The most spectacular tragedy of the week end occurred Friday before the eyes of thousands at the Indianapolis Speedway, where auto racer Pat O'Connor went to a flaming death in a 14-car smashup.

Brandon Gets 21 Years In Murder

Alvin Brandon was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter yesterday and sentenced to 21 years in the penitentiary after an hour and 45 minutes of deliberation by a special jury called from Marshall County. Brandon had been charged by the Commonwealth with the "willful murder" of his wife, Nell Armstrong Brandon, on December 14, 1957.

The jury took the case at 5:15 yesterday afternoon, shortly after hearing the instructions by Judge Earl Osborne, and returned its verdict at 7:00 last night.

He was given the maximum sentence for manslaughter. Judge Osborne instructed the jury that the sentence for voluntary manslaughter was imprisonment for 2 to 21 years. The Commonwealth had asked for life imprisonment on the charge of willful murder.

The first witness for the prosecution was Murray Chief of Police Charlie Marr. Marr testified he had received a call from the City Judge to go to the home of Mrs. Brandon on North 12th Street. Marr told the Court of his finding Mrs. Brandon on the floor of her apartment and that she had recently been shot several times. Police Constable James Brown also gave the same testimony, and said that he had been with Chief Marr that morning.

Max Churchill and James Blalock, both of being called to Mrs. Brandon's home and taking her to the Murray Hospital.

Mrs. Herman Cathey and Mrs. Edward Thompson, both neighbors of Mrs. Brandon, were also witnesses. They told the court they had seen Mr. Brandon's car parked on the street near Mrs. Brandon's apartment on the morning she was shot.

Mrs. Thompson testified that she had heard Mrs. Brandon scream, and that when she next looked out of her window that Mr. Brandon's car was gone.

Dr. C. C. Lowry was the second witness in yesterday's trial. He said that Mrs. Brandon had been brought to the Murray Hospital shortly after nine on the morning of Dec. 14 suffering from multiple gun wounds. After being X-rayed, Dr. Lowry said Mrs. Brandon was given emergency surgery.

She had gun wounds in her abdomen, left arm and right thigh, Dr. Lowry said. Dr. Lowry said that Mrs. Brandon's death, which came four days later on Wednesday, Dec. 18, was directly caused by a shut-down of her kidneys as a result of shock and damage done by the gun wounds. Thus it was established that the several gun shot wounds were the direct or precipitating cause of death.

Brigham Futrell, who was the Sheriff of Calloway County at that time, told the court that he and State Policeman Joe Hill went to Mr. Brandon's home between 9:30 and 10:00 to arrest him. Mrs. Brandon had told both policemen and officials at the hospital that she had been shot by her husband, Joe Hill, and gave essentially the same account of the arrest as Mr. Futrell had.

Both testified that Mr. Brandon willingly gave himself up, and gave the gun he had used to shoot Mrs. Brandon to the arresting officers. Mrs. Brandon had been shot with a 25 caliber automatic pistol.

When asked by arresting officers why he had shot his wife, Mr. Brandon was reported to have said, "she was ruining me," Futrell testified.

In corroborating testimony given by Mr. Futrell, Trooper Joe Hill was the eighth and last witness for the prosecution.

Waterfield Holds Off Announcement

FRANKFORT (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield is holding off announcing his candidacy for the 1959 Democratic gubernatorial nomination because of the crush of graduation speeches.

Waterfield said he probably would officially announce between June 12 and July 1. He is holding off because he said he doesn't want to mix politics with his speaking engagements at a number of high schools.

Waterfield is understood to have the backing of Gov. A. B. Chandler in the primary. Others already entered in the Democratic primary include Wilson W. Wyatt, former Louisville mayor, and Bert T. Combs, former Court of appeals judge who lost to Chandler by 77,000 votes in the 1955 primary.

In regard to the defeat of Rep. Noble J. Gregory (D-Ky.) in last Tuesday's election, Waterfield said as far as he knew the administration had not taken an active part in the race.

Carter said that the future of this nation and the peace of the world will depend on the decisions made by that class and other youth of America during their lives.

Bonds Not Set However; Count In Benton Set For Thursday

RUSSELLVILLE (UPI) — Two FBI agents were here today apparently to launch a probe into Tuesday's election in Logan County at the request of Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Incumbent Rep. Noble J. Gregory lost to Frank Stubblefield by 432 votes in the 1st District, and was beaten by Stubblefield by a 3-to-1 margin in Logan County. He got 442 votes to 2,279 for Stubblefield in pivotal Logan.

Logan Circuit Court Clerk Ernest Williams took possession of the ballot boxes Thursday after a petition for a recount was filed by John Pasco, Murray. Pasco lost in the congressional race and filed for a recount in Logan, Marshall and Calloway counties.

Circuit Judge Thomas A. Noe Jr. said he "probably" would referee a recount in "10 to 20 days" but added that Pasco's suit had not been perfected as yet. He said Pasco had not filed a $600 bond Noe set to cover the estimated cost of the recount.

At Murray, Marshall Circuit Judge Earl Osborne has set a recount of the Marshall County votes for Thursday at Benton. He said he would appoint two persons to handle the rechecking and he would act as referee.

As far as can be determined, no bond has been put up in Calloway County either, and no indication has been given as to when or whether votes will be recounted here.

Pasco received only 108 votes in Calloway County and less than 1000 in the entire first district.

Logan County political leaders and officials generally were undisturbed by the furor. Logan County Sheriff Edward Price said the election Tuesday was unusually quiet and Mrs. James Lyons, a member of the election commission, said she heard of no irregularities.

County Clerk Bailey G. Gunn said he saw nothing unusual and, added that the election brought an extremely light vote. He pointed out that 3,360 votes were cast in the primary and of that number only 2,338 were cast in the representative's race. One spokesman said in reference to the light vote, "if anyone had wanted to do something to Gregory, they would have made a better showing than that."

Chandler said in Frankfort that in his 1938 primary race for governor he lost Logan County by about 11,000 votes. He also charged the Tuesday election was "stolen" in the county.

The election won't be the first in Kentucky investigated by the FBI. A probe of the 1942 general election brought about the indictment of 99 election officials in Harlan County for violating federal election laws. Fifty persons were convicted and sent to prison and 21 others were convicted and their sentences suspended.

The FBI also investigated the 1948 primary in Bourbon County and attorney Edward Pritchard Jr. later was indicted and convicted of ballot box stuffing.

General DeGaulle To Take Over In France On Sunday

PARIS (UPI) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle will take over as the 26th premier of the French Republic, it was announced today.

With a strong majority vote already assured, the 67-year-old former Free French leader will go before an extraordinary session of the General Assembly Sunday morning to be invested with sweeping powers to reform the constitution and restore stability at home and in North Africa.

When the Assembly meets—now expected at 9:30 a.m. (4:30 a.m. e.d.t.)—it will be virtually to vote itself out of power for from six months to a year. De Gaulle has demanded that much time free of interference to install his reforms.

Roger Duchet, secretary general of the Independent (Conservative) Party made the formal announcement after a conference with De Gaulle at the latter's hotel.

Plans Reported
It later was confirmed by officials at the Elysee Presidential Palace.

Earlier, President Rene Coty had signalled the go-ahead for De Gaulle's investiture by formally accepting the resignation of Premier Pierre Pflimlin's outgoing government.

"Unconfirmed but apparently reliable reports said De Gaulle had in mind a government of two parts:

—An inner cabinet or "political council" of five members—probably former President Vincent Auriol and heads of key political parties.

—Another 10 ministers picked from leading members of Parlia-

"technicians" and three representatives of the labor unions. Among the technicians would be Wilfred Baumgartner, president of the Bann of France.

Today's announcement was a climax to 18 days of the worst crisis in the history of the Fourth Republic.

Sparked By Generals
It began with the revolt of the French army generals in (Continued On Back Page)

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Sing unto the Lord a new song. Isa. 42:10.
We are grateful for eighty five years of good health. It took a trip to the hospital to make us grateful.

BITTER PILL TO TAKE

CONGRESSMAN Noble Gregory will lose still more of his following if the action of Governor A. B. Chandler in contesting the vote in Logan County is carried out.
Also, Harry Lee Waterfield will find the going extremely rough in the First District in his race next year for Governor if Chandler and his forces continue with their action in contesting the vote in Calloway, Marshall and Logan Counties.

Most people admire a good winner or loser in any race, and Frank Albert Stubblefield has certainly exhibited good taste in his upset victory over Noble Gregory.
Unfortunately we cannot say the same thing about
Mr. Gregory, Chandler, or the Chandler forces.

It looks like a case of "sour grapes" to us, and bad sportsmanship of the worst order.

Mr. Gregory could save some of his own prestige by objecting publicly to an investigation of the Logan County ballot. He has not objected at all. In fact he is quoted as saying that "it couldn't hurt anything".

We are glad to tell Mr. Gregory that he just got beat and that's all there is to it.

The attitude of Mr. Chandler is understandable to some degree, because he is undergoing the unpleasant ordeal of having his own political trickery backfire in his face.

It is ironic that he moved Logan County into the First District in order to beat Earl C. Clements, then have this same Logan County catapult the man he opposed into Congress. It is a bitter pill to take, and apparently he just can't take it.

It must be clear to Mr. Gregory now that in allying himself with the Chandler administration, he brought defeat down around his head.

His chances of winning would have been far greater had he repudiated Chandler and all that he stands for.

The only thing that a recount of votes in the three counties named will prove is that Frank Albert Stubblefield won by a big majority.

Worse Start Precedes The Worst Smashup Of Speed Race

By ED SAINSBURY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —
The worst start in "500" history preceded the worst smashup of the event has ever had, and national driving champion Jimmy Bryan rode the middle of the whirlwind driving both of them to win the richest race of them all.

Bryan's victory came because of his relentless pace, mostly over 140 miles per hour, for the last 130 laps after the field was slowed to 107 miles per hour for 20 laps due to a 16-car collision in which eight cars were eliminated and driver Pat O'Connor was killed.

Bryan will receive his reward for his daredevil driving tonight at the annual victory banquet and he'll probably pick up about

$110,000 to exceed the previous record purse for the winner.
Bryan rode home in front in the same car in which Sam Hanks won last year. It was the fourth time a vehicle has triumphed two years in a row.

Had Fierce Competition
Bryan led the race for 139 of its 200 laps, including the final 75 despite a hard chase by runner-up George Amick, Felicie, Cal., and Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif. Boyd trailed by less than a second at one point, but a 24-second pit stop for a tire and fuel left him too far behind.

Bryan averaged 132.791 miles per hour. Amick 133.517 and Boyd 133.099.

Every one of the leading sextet was involved in the 16-car crash which came on the northeast turn on the first lap. None of them ever was a factor in the race.

The start was horrible.
The field had been scheduled to make two pace tours of the 2 1/2 mile oval track before the signal to race. Instead, Dick Rathmann, Ed Ertman, and Jimmy Reece, ran away from the field on the first lap.

Start Was Ragged
Before the pack was even together to start, the three front runners had gone around four times and the 30 other cars three times. They got away to a ragged start and hardly any alignment.

The combined wreckage rebounded onto the track as Reece whacked into it. O'Connor, riding the pileup into the wall, was killed in the second row, zooming then bounced back up and skidded down the track in flames.

The 29-year old North Vernon, Ind., driver, who last year won the pole position for the race, was dead when he was removed from the car, the 11th driver to die in the 500 mile race.

He was the first fatality during the race since 1935 when Vukovich, who had won the previous two years, was killed in a similar crash.

Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley
Park, Ill., was fourth, Rathmann, Miami, Fla., finished fifth.

May Be A Flag Race In The American League After All

By JOHN GRIFFIN

UPI Sports Writer
Casey Stengel's moaning but the other managers are laughing today because maybe—just maybe—there will be a pennant race in the American League this year after all.

Just a week ago a grim gag was being told in the AL dugouts that "The Yankees might clinch the flag by Memorial Day." But instead that holiday produced a doubleheader loss by the Yankees, to all of people, the Washington Senators, 13-8 and 7-2, to run their losing streak to four games.

The San Francisco Giants,
leading the National League, were similarly jolted in 7-6 and 8-1 losses to the St. Louis Cardinals.

But, even though that cut the Giants' lead over the Milwaukee Braves to a single game, it wasn't a shocker like the Yankees' humiliation by the Senators.
While the Yankees were rotting up wins, Stengel kept talking about the 1935 Yankee team that won 18 straight games and then lost nine straight—now maybe somebody will listen to him.

Sievers Gets Three
The panic isn't on yet, of course, because the Yankees still lead by 6 1/2 games but it was stunning to see the Senators outslug the Yankees. As Roy Sievers smashed three homers in the twin bill and Jim Lemon two.

The Senators blew a six-run lead in the opening game and then came back to win when Sievers and Ken Aspromonte
each clouted a three-run homer in the eighth inning. But they led all the way in the nightcap after Sievers and Lemon homered in the first inning. Chick Stobbs won the opener in relief while Pedro Ramos went the route in the second with a seven-hitter.

In other AL holiday games, the Chicago White Sox ran their winning streak to five games by beating Detroit, 6-3 and 4-2.
The Boston Red Sox handed Baltimore its eighth straight defeat, 2-0, before the Orioles took the nightcap by the same score and the Kansas City A's rallied to win the nightcap, 7-6, after losing the opener, 7-1.

Milwaukee Splits
In other NL games, the Chicago
Cubs rallied twice in the ninth inning to beat Los Angeles, 3-2 and 10-8. Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh, 7-4, in the opener and then lost, 12-6; and Cincinnati drubbed Philadelphia in a single game, 8-1.

The White Sox broke a 5-5 tie in the ninth inning of their opener when Sherm Lollar singled home a run, and in the last of the ninth Al Smith made the game by making a circus catch of Frank Bolling's long drive to start a game-ending double play. Lefty Billy Pierce had only one bad inning as he won the nightcap on a six-hitter.

Frank Sullivan of the Red Sox turned in the holiday's top pitching job, holding the Orioles to two hits—both infield singles by Al Pilarcik—in their first game as Frank Malone supplied the run he needed with a two-run homer. Big Al Smith snapped the Orioles' losing streak in the nightcap with a four-hit job, his third win over Boston this year.

Ray Narvick's six-hit hurling gave the Indians their opening win as Rocky Colavito and Larry Doby homered in support. Bob Cerv drove in four runs in the nightcap for the A's, three with his 13th homer, but Mickey Vernon's three-run homer in the ninth forced Duke Maas to appear in relief to save the win for the A's.

Giants Lose in Tenth
The Giants lost their see-saw opener in St. Louis in the 10th inning when Ray Crone's wild pitched enabled Dick Schofield to romp home from third base.

Jim Brosnan shackled the Giants on nine hits in the second game,
missing a shutout only on Valmy Thomas' homer. Ken Boyer hit two for the Cards in the second.
Ex-Dodgers Walt (Moose) Morryn was the Cub hero in their twin win over Los Angeles. His double was the only extra-base blow in the three-run rally the Cubs staged in the ninth inning to win their opener. And he blasted three homers in the nightcap, including a two-run clout in the ninth inning to win the game.

Milwaukee came from behind with four runs in the ninth to win their opener at Pittsburgh, with the help of losses, playing third baseman Frank Thomas.
But their four homers in the nightcap were buried under an 18-hit Pirate attack.

Ex-Phil Harvey Haddis allowed only five hits and struck out 10 in pitching Cincinnati to its single win. The Redlegs had 16 hits, including homers by Smokey Burgess and Steve Bilko.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON

By Dr. H. C. Chiles

A NEW LEADER COMMISSIONED

Moses, God's great leader of the Israelites, had brought them out of the land of bondage and through the wilderness and was now about to leave them. He could not take them into the Promised Land on account of his previous disobedience to God. The Israelites had become attached to Moses, had learned to trust his judgment and to follow his leadership even though they repeatedly murmured against him. But now the time had arrived when it was necessary for a change of leadership. A change of command is usually a delicate affair, but it is especially hazardous when the army is in the field and the enemy is on guard.

I. The Choice, Numbers 27: 18-20.
Realizing that the time of his departure was near, Moses was very solicitous about the future of God's work. He was vitally concerned that a capable and qualified successor be named before he left the scene of action. As an evidence of his unselfishness, freedom from jealousy and nobility of soul, Moses earnestly besought God to provide a leader who would honor him and be a great blessing to His people. In answer to his prayer, Moses was divinely instructed to ordain Joshua as his successor, and to charge him to be faithful in the performance of his numerous duties.

We do not know much about the early life of Joshua. His name is a worthy and significant one, meaning "Jehovah is salvation." The relationship between Moses and Joshua was beautiful and significant. At the first Joshua is seen as the servant of Moses, loyal to his leader, a most trustworthy and valiant captain. One of his companion's characteristics was his unwavering loyalty to Moses, God's appointed leader.

Years of training in the ranks of God's forces prepared Joshua sufficiently practical experience to qualify him for the leadership of Israel. When he assumed leadership, he had proved himself to be a man of faith, a man of steadfastness, and a man of spiritual integrity. He had great faith in God and displayed remarkable devotion to Him. He was a man of decision. There was never any wavering, hesitating or delaying when the way of duty had been made clear to him. He is one of the few Old Testament characters against whose name there is no reproach.

For a month the people had been mourning over the death of Moses, so the time had arrived for them to cease their mourning and to proceed into Canaan. Therefore, God very definitely called Joshua to participate in the service for him. God said, "Moses my servant is dead; now therefore arise, go over this Jordan." He was told to lead the Israelites into the Promised Land, and to enjoy the marvelous blessings that was in store for them there.

III. The Challenge, Joshua 1:2-4.
A principle of vast significance is set forth here. God is gracious to set forth here. God is very generous, and His gifts are beyond calculation. But His gifts must be received. While God gave all Palestine to the children of Israel, only so much of it as their feet trod upon actually became theirs to enjoy.

In meeting the conditions attached to possessing the land, God was their enabler. As in all of God's dealings, it was all of grace—God promised that He would go with them and drive out all of their enemies, if only they would believe Him enough to take Him at His word and act accordingly. All they needed to do to possess the land was to cross over the Jordan and to occupy it. These glorious promises which God gave to Joshua were calculated to strengthen him and to challenge him.

IV. The Companionship, Joshua 1:5.
God promised Joshua a blessed companionship. Although Moses had been taken away from him, God was still with him. Therefore, he was assured that he would have the same protection and power that Moses had. "As I was with Moses—so I will be with thee."

In this companionship—there was complete victory. When God said, "I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee," He was promising both His presence and His power to Joshua. He was promising both His presence and His power to Joshua. He was promising to enable him to do all that would be required of him. With the duty there inevitably comes the power to discharge it, for God will never fail His own.

V. The Courage, Joshua 1:6-9.
God called upon Joshua to be strong and courageous. Surely, Joshua had every good reason to be strong and courageous. God had promised to be with him, to give him victory over his enemies, and to strengthen him for his tasks. He was challenged to be strong and courageous to divide the land, and to observe God's Word, remembering always that "the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest." Instead of permitting a sense of unfitness, unworthiness—or unwillingness—to deter him or to turn him aside, his attitude was that of readiness to do as he had been commanded. Joshua's attitude is accurately expressed in the words of Paul, "As much as in me is, I am ready." But, observe that the foundation of courage is faith in God's Word, nurtured by meditation on it "day and night." Only those who meditate on God's Word to learn His will can do God's work.

acceptably. The need for diligent searching of God's Word by His people cannot be overstressed.

Joshua proved that he did have the courage which comes from complete dependence upon God, and, through faith, his long life his loyalty to God was demonstrated clearly.

Today God is calling for real Christian optimism on the part of His servants. How it must grieve Him the way some professing Christians go around moaning, groaning and complaining that it is practically impossible to do any great work for the Lord in these days! God's children need never fear when He is with them. He will provide the necessary strength for every emergency.
